

CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

Advanced Development – the journal on adult giftedness – seeks articles for Volume 13

Advanced Development, a peer-reviewed journal dedicated as a forum for issues of gifted adults, is published by The Institute for the Study of Advanced Development, Inc. We invite manuscripts on our general themes of giftedness, advanced development, and undeveloped potential. The scope of the volume may include, but is not limited to, the following topics:

- Theoretical perspectives on giftedness
- Research pertinent to issues of gifted adults
- Spirituality, meditation, and consciousness
- Critical self-perception and self-evaluation
- Creative individuals and the creative process
- Multilevel development
- Varieties of giftedness
- Giftedness in other cultures
- Moral exemplars
- Counseling issues
- Case studies of gifted adults
- Poetry, vignettes, line drawings, black-and-white photos

DEADLINE Manuscripts are welcome at any time. Those received before Dec 31, 2010, will receive first consideration for Volume 13.

REVIEW PROCESS Articles are submitted for blind peer review. If recommended for publication, reviewers' comments are forwarded to authors to aid in requested revisions.

FORMAT Manuscripts should be approximately 20 pages (5,000 words), double-spaced, and conforming to the guidelines of APA Publications Manual (fifth edition). Please check references carefully and proofread for nonsexist language. All figures must be sharp enough that the electronic transmission allows them to be reproduced well. Include a 125-word abstract and a 100-word biographical sketch (max word count). Manuscripts should be submitted electronically in Microsoft Word to the editor, Nancy Miller, at nmiller@uakron.edu (Gifted Development Center, 1452 Marion St., Denver, CO). Authors will be notified electronically of the receipt of all submissions.
